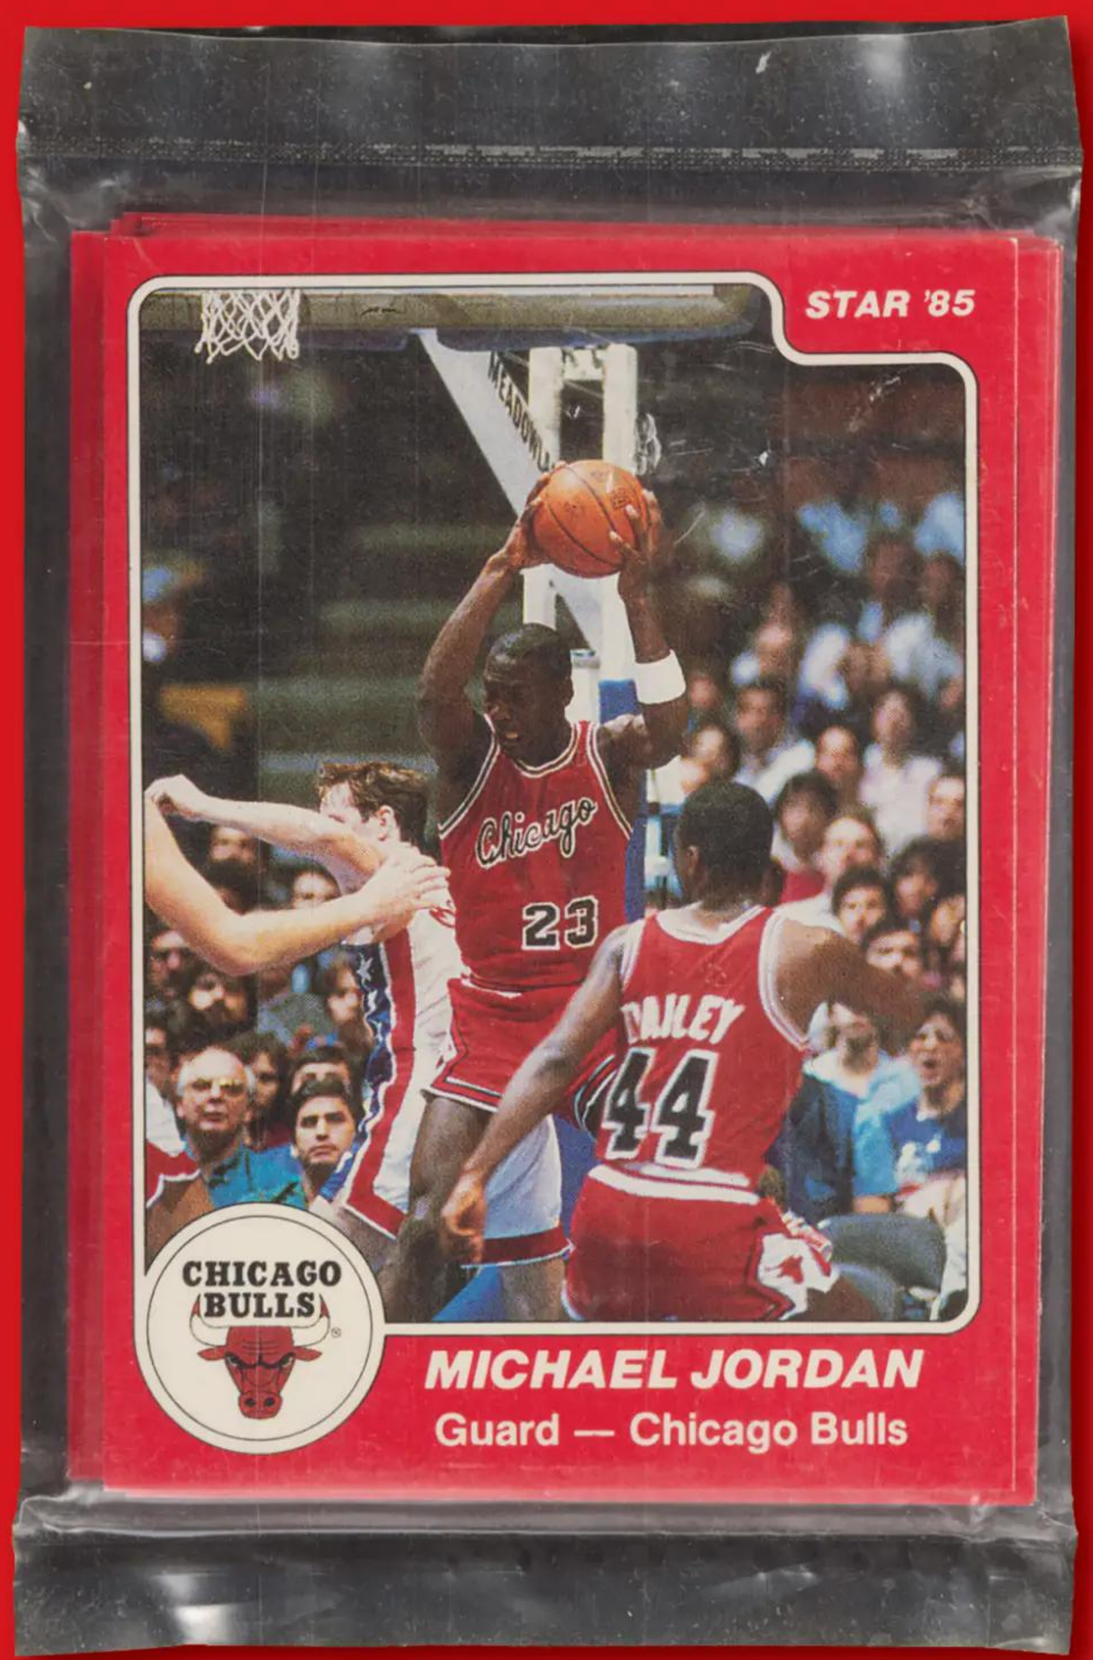
TO RIP OR PRESERVE?
A MILLON DOLLAR QUESTION.

By Ryan Wright



What would you do? Called by many the "true rookie card," landing a 1984-85 Star #101 Michael Jordan XRC is an investment of hundreds to tens of thousands of dollars – even in average graded condition. Add the card in a 40-year-old sealed pack, free from the possible scrapes and scratches from clumsy handling, with 11 other members of the Chicago Bulls… how much would you pay?

In the realm of reality or not, eBay sticker prices for such an item run from $125,000 to $2.5M. On September 27, a lucky bidder secured the Bulls team set with Jordan featured atop the pack for $52,460 with a buyer's premium, listed by Heritage Auctions as in mint to near-mint condition.

Would you rip the pack and grade the #101 or hold and preserve it in the original packaging? A 10 grade on a #101 Jordan estimates over $1M after a 9 grade reportedly sold in private for $940,000 in September of 2024.

A chorus of echoing "I'd sell it for more money" can be heard.

ERRORS (ERR) ARE A WAY OF LIFE IN THE SPORTS CARD HOBBY. The degrees of errors can range from a simple mistake like a missing decimal point, printer's ink and hickeys, miscuts, poor centering, wrong stats or a blank card back, to jaw dropping – wrong name or even worse, wrong name and wrong photo. In the hobby, not all errors are meaningful, but some can fatten the wallet.

As production has gone on over the decades, and with more competition in the market, manufacturers buckled down to correct the flawed human element, but errors persist and the mishaps created, especially among vintage, help elevate card prices while initiating an unexpected chase.

Error cards can be spun into value online, but a missing period after Inc, a lost trademark, or a dropped copyright sign does not fuel the fire to pay $50 more for a common player's base card. Furthermore, availability or scarcity of the mistake can send prices north or south. Add a layer; if there are more error cards in circulation than the corrected version, the card as it was supposed to be becomes the chased cardboard.

There is also the uncorrected error, commonly referred to as UER. UER cards are mistakes, most often, found by the manufacturer after printing a set in its entirety without going back to print a corrected version.

A MISTAKE TIME DOES NOT FORGET

Ripping open packs of 1968-69 Topps, one could easily blow past a small typo worth a whole lot of money. The Topps Test #5 John Havlicek went out with the last name spelled, "Havilcek." A PSA 8 sold during an eBay auction on June 22, 2020, for $22,100. Raw values can range from $300 in good form to $6,000 mint.

BEER AND SPORTS, WHAT COULD GO WRONG?

Using sports to sell products is as old as… the beginning of organized sports. From chewing gum, candy bars, and cereal to frozen Tombstone pizza, advertisers have used sports personalities to push products. The same holds true for selling cold beer.

A set not often seen in hobby circles, A1 Premium Beer cards. Then the top pilsner of the Arizona Brewing Company, A1 ran an advertisement featuring the Phoenix Suns for their six-packs. The set of 13 cards, valued on secondary markets now around $2,000 complete, had three variations based on beer prices: 95 cents, 98 cents, and one with no listed price.

The error on the black and white 2 1/4" by 8 3/4" cards, a reversed negative. The ERR was caught with corrected versions released. Note the "5" and "PHOENIX" lettering reading backwards in the valued ERR release.

QUALITY CONTROL?

The 1986-87 Fleer set is one of the hobby's most beloved releases. Three years later, Fleer's new set was among the most flawed. The errors run the gambit from wrong rookie seasons for Bill Cartwright, 1978-80 instead of 1979-80, to wrong player stats, Lester Conner with Garden State instead of Golden State, wrong birthdates (Hersey Hawkins), incorrect draft years, missing draft bios (Danny Manning), Clyde Drexler being picked 4th overall instead of 14th, and so on. The NBA logo was even left off cards… oops!

The same troubles continued for Fleer in the 1990-91 set with wrong information and statistics. The 1991-92 Fleer #293 Dale Davis UER RC has a picture of Sean Green on the back.

Something was in the Crystal Pepsi and Tab Clear in the early '90s, as 1992-93 Topps Stadium Club was also rife with bio and statistical errors. Some of the small mistakes were also found in the Members Only short prints to 10,000. Packs of errors were duplicated by Topps in the 1993-94 Stadium Club and in the First Day Issue, which were limited to 1,000 copies.

CAN WE LAUGH ABOUT IT NOW?

As it seems per the production, in the 1983-84 Star set, the company twice got cards of Mike Mitchell and Mark McNamara wrong. There is a Star #247A Mike Mitchell (wrong name) and a Star #247B Mike Mitchell (wrong photo) mixed up with McNamara. And there are two McNamara error cards, Star #248A Mark McNamara and Star #248B Mark McNamara. The McNamara #248A mishap went a step further, both the name and photo were of Mitchell.

WHAT IN THE WILKENS, OR WILKINS, IS GOING ON HERE?

Where is the love for two-time inducted Hall of Famer Lenny Wilkens? Wilkens shows up in multiple decades with UER cards. Fleer started off the folly of errors on Wilkens rookie card #44, misspelling his last name. Topps also misspelled his last name in the 1969-70 set, #44 Len Wilkens (correct), reading "Len Wilkins"; the irony, both card numbers are the same.

Topps got him again on the 1996-97 Stadium Club Finest Reprints Refractors #49 Lenny Wilkens UER, Finest Reprint Refractors, and 1996 Stars Reprint Members Only Parallel. In 1985, Star misspelled his name and in the 1989-90 Hoops set, they just forgot the NBA logo – but at least they spelled his name correctly.

Real, ERR, or UER?

Real! Known as the "Jordan Stolen Jersey Game" (Feb. 14, 1990), MJ dropped 49 in an OT loss to the Magic wearing No. 12 instead of No. 23 with no name on the back. Hoops memorialized the oddity in what looks like an ERR card.

GIVE JORDAN FANS ANOTHER REASON TO COLLECT

Regardless of sport, Michael Jordan is one of the most sought-after player cards on the market. Put a mistake on there, superfans must have it. Serial numbered to 10,000, the 1995-98 UDA Michael Jordan Commemorative Cards #NNO 1997 25,000 Career Point 22kt card misspelled career as "carrer."

Another Jordan mistake card is the 1992-93 Upper Deck #453A Michael Jordan claiming "His Airness" won the dunk competition in 1985 and 1990 (Wilkins) instead of '87 and '88. The same UD release printed Dominque Wilkins #454A card with the wrong NBA Slam Dunk Contest winning years, 1987 and 1988; the card back info had been swapped.

Upper Deck set to capitalize on MJ's popularity in a 2012 UNC Master Collection set of 23 cards. Each of the 23 cards, with a print run of 250, has the wrong career point total (1,788-2,152).

In all, there are 35 different UER Jordan cards listed in Beckett's database and just two ERR cards. One that tends to be missed on UER lists is from SkyBox.

Among the more expensive MJ cards on the secondary market is the 1998-99 SkyBox Molten Metal Fusion #41 Michael Jordan /250 and 1998-99 SkyBox Molten Metal Fusion Titanium #41 /40. A production error switched 15 of the 20 logos on the front of the Fusion cards from Supernatural tier (silver finish), with another parallel, Fusion Titanium (gold finish).

The two most valuable recognized Jordan UER cards are both from the 1997-98 Bowman's Best set and both have incorrect best performances against Damon Stoudamire dates on the back: 1997-98 Bowman's Best #96 Michael Jordan BP UER and 1997-98 Bowman's Best Atomic Refractors #96 Michael Jordan BP UER.

NEW CENTURY, SAME OLD PROBLEMS

The 2002-03 Topps Jersey Edition set is complete with 125 cards, and 11 of those have an UER tag. Broken into two segments, Road Jersey or Home Cookin', there wasn't enough fabric to go around with opposite swatches being used.

The repeat of the same 11 players, and their errors, are also found on the Black (/99) and Logoman (/1): Jamaal Magloire, Elden Campbell, Donyell Marshall, Dan Dickau, Aaron McKie, Morris Peterson, Gilbert Arenas, Eddie Griffin, Chris Wilcox, Courtney Alexander, and Antonio Davis.

THERE'S NO FIXING THAT NOW

Imagine overseeing Topps' printing press for the 2009-10 Bowman '48 Autographs Press Plates Black #48ADR Derrick Rose realizing the signature on the card is O.J. Mayo's. Eight 1/1 cards, two Press Plates Yellow, two Magenta, two Cyan, and two Press Plates Black, were mixed up with Rose's auto on four Mayo's and four Mayo's on Rose's.

In the 2021-22 Donruss Optic release, 41 different variations of Anthony Edwards cards went out with the same error – partial stats on the back. The card titles included the Optic line and their rainbow of colors, Lucky Envelopes, Holo, Fast Break, Fanatics Box Set, and Optic Choice with subsequent color parallels.

On the scarcity meter, the 2021-22 Donruss Optic Black #83 Anthony Edwards ERR/Partial stats back, 2021-22 Donruss Optic Choice Nebula #83, 2021-22 Donruss Optic Fast Break Black #83, and 2021-22 Donruss Optic Gold Vinyl #83 are 1/1.

A mass production mistake by Panini-Donruss was also found in the 2019-20 Optic line with player names missing. Values were added in the Obsidian Rookie Autographs set of the same year with repeated Kyle Guy/25 UER/Brandon Clarke card backs on short prints.

A TRIUMPHANT RETURN

TOPPS SETS STAGE FOR ANOTHER ICONIC RELEASE IN LICENSED RETURN TO BASKETBALL

By Andrew Harner

For nearly 70 years, Topps has had an on-again, off-again relationship with the basketball card industry, but one common thread has remained – the company knows how to produce a memorable set.

From its inaugural 1957-58 offering to the "Tall Boy" cards from 1969 and 1970. Be it the perforated three-way cards in 1980-81 or its most recent last hurrah – the 2009-10 set – Topps has carved out a place in most basketball card collections with strong designs, superb checklists, and some pretty good timing.

Topps won back exclusive manufacturing rights for licensed NBA cards a few years ago, and that long-term agreement kicked in on October 1. The company wasted no time announcing its return, showcasing a new flagship set the same day and giving collectors their first look at what has all the necessary ingredients to become the next iconic Topps set.

Quick to follow were unveilings of the NBA Rookie Debut Patch and Gold Logoman patches, two concepts that have proven wildly popular with baseball card collectors.

The Rookie Debut Patch is a special patch affixed to a player's uniform for only the game in which they make their professional debut. The patch is later removed, authenticated and put into an autographed 1/1 trading card that can never be replicated. Oklahoma City second-round pick Brooks Barnhizer became the first player to wear one when he entered in the first quarter of the first NBA game of this season.

Major award winners from the 2024-25 NBA campaign will wear special golden Logoman patches on their uniforms this season, and some of those Gold Logoman patches will later go into rare Topps cards. Players participating in the program are Oklahoma City's Shai Gilgeous-Alexander (MVP), San Antonio's Stephon Castle (Rookie of the Year) and Cleveland's Evan Mobley (Defensive Player of the Year).

In terms of products, collectors quickly got word of Topps Holiday – a fantastically festive and popular staple from the baseball card world – and Topps Now, print-on-demand cards that chronicle highlights from nearly every day of the season.

And while many other popular sets are to come – Topps Chrome is sure to stir up a frenzy – the focus here is on why this flagship Topps set could become one that collectors talk about for decades to come.

THE KING RETURNS

Shortly after the Cleveland Cavaliers selected LeBron James with the first overall pick in the 2003 NBA Draft, he followed in Michael Jordan's footsteps and signed an exclusive autograph deal with Upper Deck. So, while Topps produced licensed basketball cards during the first seven years of LeBron's career, none of them were pack-pulled autographs.

Though Upper Deck lost its licensing rights to produce NBA cards after 2009, the company maintained its autograph pact with James, preventing Panini from inserting his autographs into packs from 2010-2023.

LeBron changed allegiance in January 2024, signing an exclusive autograph deal with Fanatics. That led to several unlicensed LeBron autos in Topps products since then, but his 2025-26 Topps flagship autographs are his first pack-pulled licensed autographs since 2009, which gives them a special place in hobby history.

Dylan Harper
Rookie Debut Patch

THE MARTIAN HAS LANDED

After the San Antonio Spurs made French superstar Victor Wembanyama the top draft pick in 2023, Fanatics swooped in and signed him to an exclusive autograph deal, so none of his rookie autographs are licensed.

Now in his third year as a pro, fully licensed Wembanyama autographs have arrived, and collectors have been chasing the 7-foot-4 center's autographs and other cards from the flagship Topps set. Within days of the set's release, a handful of Wembanyama autographs were listed on eBay with five-figure price tags and quickly sold via best offers.

The licensing agreements work both ways, however, as stars Luka Dončić and Zion Williamson have trading card deals with Panini and don't appear in the flagship Topps set. Several other high-profile players – including Gilgeous-Alexander, Giannis Antetokounmpo, and Anthony

Edwards – have autograph contracts with Panini that prevent them from signing cards for Topps.

WELCOME TO THE LEAGUE

Part of what has made so many Topps sets over the years iconic are the rookie crops found on the checklist – and the heralded draft class featured in the 2025-26 set has the markings of a group that may be remembered for years to come.

The 1957-58 Topps set was the first major basketball card release since 1948, so most of the checklist is rookie cards – including Hall of Famers like Bill Russell and Bob Cousy.

When Topps returned to the industry full-time with "tall boy" cards in 1969, Lew Alcindor – who later changed his name to Kareem Abdul-Jabbar – was a rookie, and a year later, Pete Maravich made his cardboard debut.

As basketball cards faded in popularity, Topps got creative with its 1980-81 set, putting three small perforated cards onto one standard-sized card. One of those trios happened to include two notable rookies – Larry Bird and Magic Johnson.

Topps had a long run of sets from the early '90s until 2009, but the last one of the era is well-remembered for the smiling young face of Stephen Curry, whose 2009-10

GETTY IMAGES

Topps rookie card is one of his most popular first-year offerings.

Now, top pick Cooper Flagg joins other high-profile prospects like Dylan Harper, Ace Bailey, VJ Edgecombe, and Kon Knueppel to help usher in a new era of Topps basketball cards.

WE AREN'T ROOKIES, BUT ...

For most of the veterans featured on the 2025-26 Topps checklist, this year's card marks the first licensed Topps issue of their career.

Select players like James, Curry, Chris Paul, and Kevin Durant have been in the league long enough to have mid-to-late 2000s Topps cards. But for players like Gilgeous-Alexander, Nikola Jokić, Antetokounmpo, and Edwards, a licensed Topps card is a first.

Over time, collectors have seen values of non-rookie 2012-13 Panini Prizm cards rise strictly because it's a player's first Panini Prizm card – will we eventually see the same phenomenon from 2025-26 Topps issues?

Considering the celebrated history of the Topps brand name, anything seems possible.

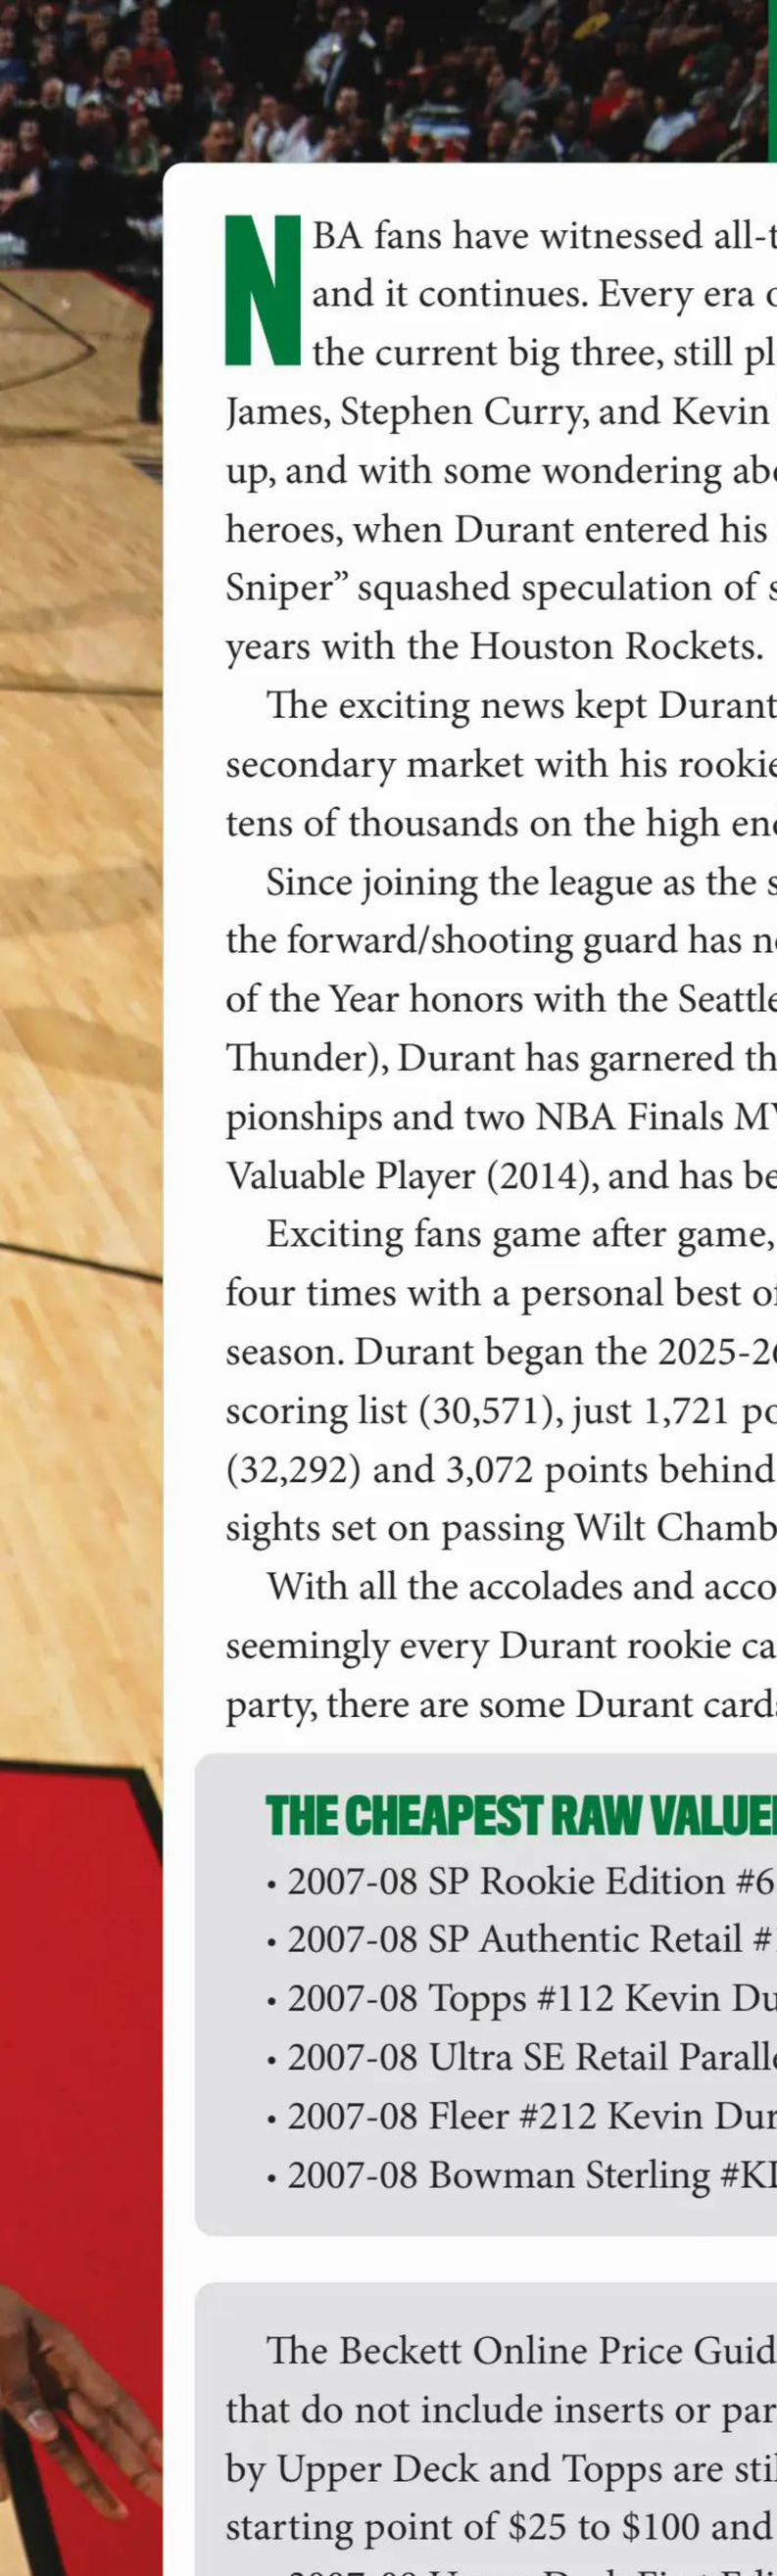
KEVIN DURANT ROOKIE CARDS CONTINUE TO SOAR IN VALUE

BY RYAN WRIGHT

2007-08 Exquisite Collection #94 Kevin Durant JSY AU /99 RC

GETTY IMAGES



NBA fans have witnessed all-time greatness over the past 20 years, and it continues. Every era of the league has its superstars, and the current big three, still playing at an elite level, are LeBron James, Stephen Curry, and Kevin Durant. As the hardcourt miles load up, and with some wondering about retirement for their roundball heroes, when Durant entered his 18th NBA season, the "Easy Money Sniper" squashed speculation of slowing down extending for two years with the Houston Rockets.

The exciting news kept Durant cards moving at a rapid pace on the secondary market with his rookie card prices continuing to sell for tens of thousands on the high end.

Since joining the league as the second pick in the 2007 NBA Draft, the forward/shooting guard has not disappointed. Earning 2008 Rookie of the Year honors with the Seattle SuperSonics (Oklahoma City Thunder), Durant has garnered the spotlight winning two NBA championships and two NBA Finals MVP awards (2017, 2018), NBA Most Valuable Player (2014), and has been selected to 15 All-Star Games.

Exciting fans game after game, Durant has led the league in scoring four times with a personal best of 32.0 per game during the 2013-14 season. Durant began the 2025-26 schedule eighth on the all-time scoring list (30,571), just 1,721 points behind No. 5, Michael Jordan (32,292) and 3,072 points behind Kobe Bryant (33,643) at No. 4 with sights set on passing Wilt Chamberlain and Dirk Nowitzki.

With all the accolades and accomplishments, among collectors, seemingly every Durant rookie card is of value. Late to the collecting party, there are some Durant cards that will not break the bank.

SECOND TO NONE

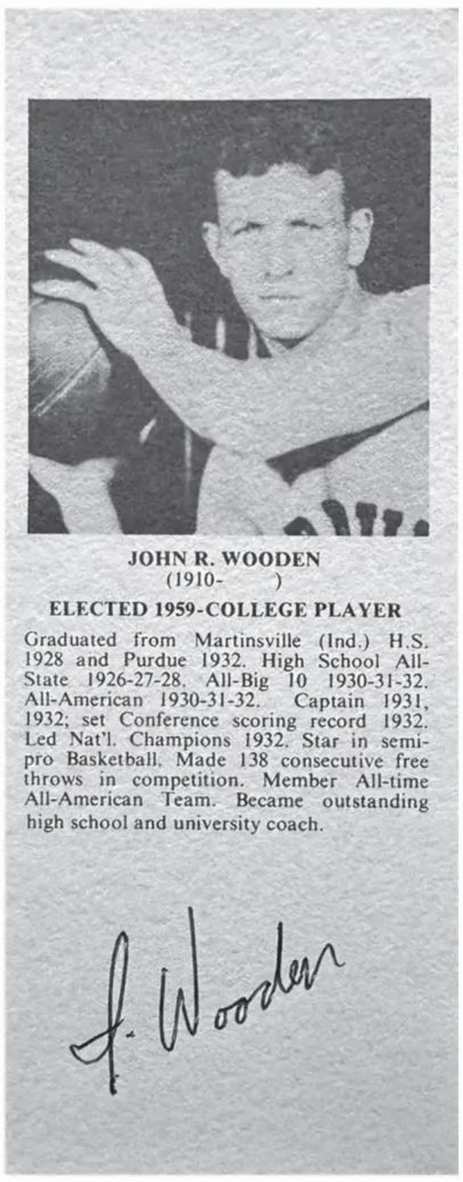
THE SECOND HALL OF FAME CLASS

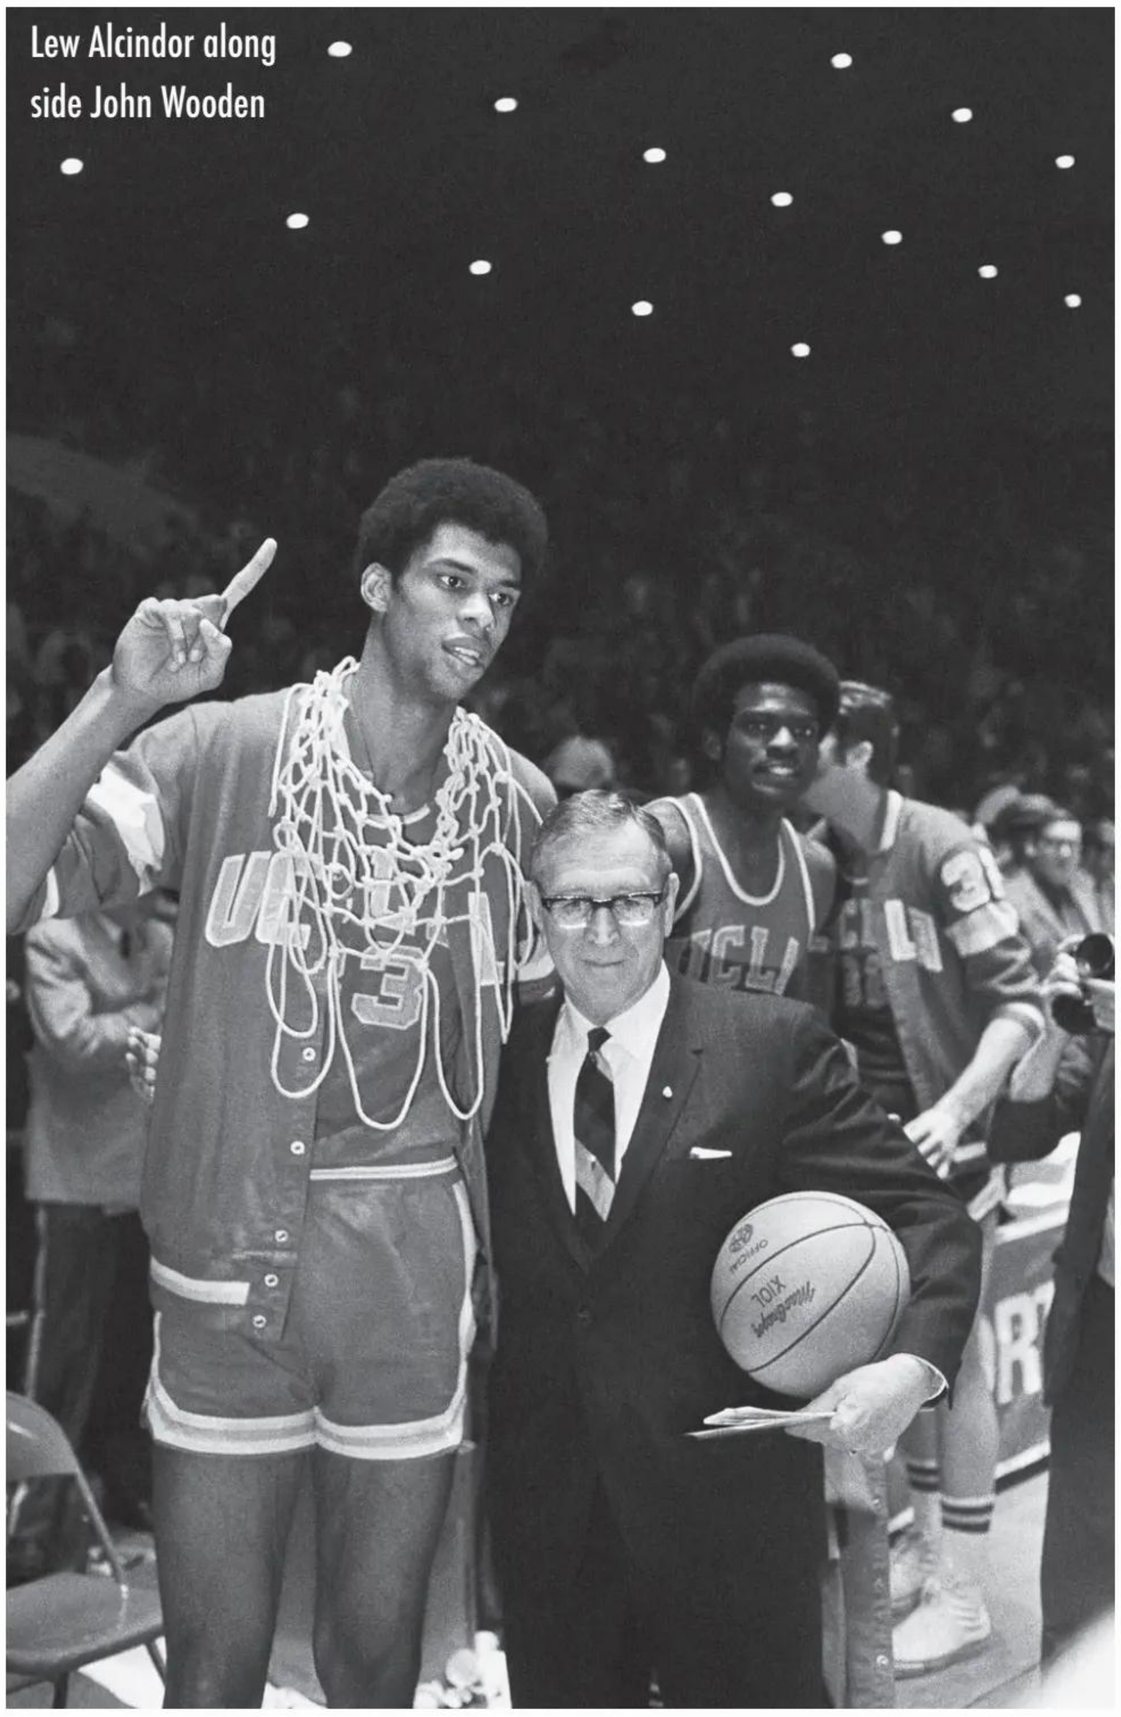
By Ryan Wright

Among basketball historians, the first class inducted into the Naismith Memorial Hall of Fame, and for good reason, gets the lion's share of attention in remembrance. But what about the second class? Sixty-five years has passed since the 1960 group took their seat at the table with the Original Celtics, Phog Allen, Amos Alonzo Stagg, the First Team, Ed Hickox, George Mikan, Mr. James Naismith himself, and the rest of the crew – time to spotlight the next 10.

JOHN WOODEN

Inducted in the second class as a player, Wooden was a three-time All-American at Purdue (1930-32). The 1932 Purdue team coached by Ward Lambert, retroactively was given a national championship by both Helms Athletic Foundation and Premo-Poretta Power Poll. Wooden earned his second Hall induction in 1973 as a head coach. Starting with Indiana State for two years, Wooden would cement his basketball legacy with the UCLA Bruins (1948-49 to 1974-75) winning 10 national championships with 12 Final Four appearances. Wooden's overall coaching record, 664-162.

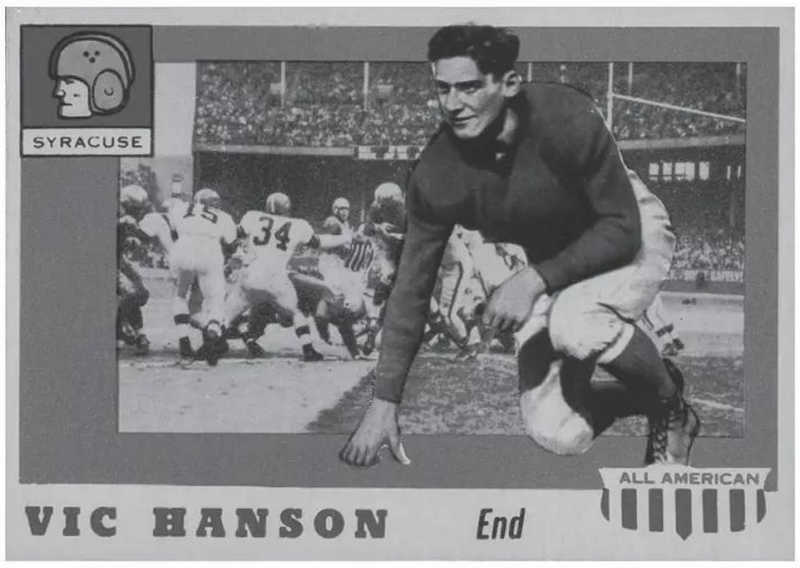




Lew Alcindor along side John Wooden

VIC HANSON

Sports bar trivia time: who is the only player inducted into both the College Football and the Naismith Memorial Basketball Halls of Fame? Vic Hanson. Hanson was a three-time All-American in basketball (1925-27) and an All-America in football (1926) and a two-time All-Eastern honoree (1925, 1926) while at Syracuse.



ERNEST BLOOD

One of America's top all-time high school coaches, the "Professor" was ahead of his time utilizing full-court pressure and fast break baskets to overwhelm the opposition. Blood rose to prominence as coach at New Jersey's Passaic High School. From 1915 to 1924, his teams went 200-1 with seven state championships. From 1925 to 1950 at St. Benedict's Prep, Blood produced a 421-128 record.

GEORGE HEPBRON

Helping shape the origins of the game, Hepbron was both a referee and literally wrote the first book on how to play the game – How to Play Basketball (1904). Hepbron furthered his influence on the early part of the game serving as the first secretary of the AAU Basketball Committee in 1896, secretary of the Olympic Basketball Committee in 1903, and was secretary of the National Basketball Rules Committee in 1915. He also was the editor of AAU Basketball Guide from 1901-14.

FRANK KEANEY

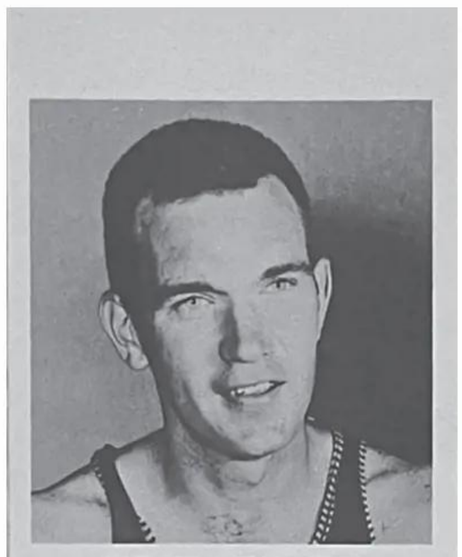
Starting his adult working career as a high school football coach in Massachusetts, Kearney landed the head basketball coaching position at Rhode Island State College, now simply titled University of Rhode Island, in 1920. By multiple outlets, Kearney is considered the godfather of up-tempo basketball embracing the fast break and full-court pressure. While compiling a record of 401-124 on the hardwood with the Rams (1920-21 to 1947-48), his 21 years on the sidelines as head football coach at Rhode Island produced a 70-86-12 record.

WARD L. LAMBERT

A familiar name among Boilermaker loyalists, Lambert was a two-way coaching star at Purdue. Missing the 1917-18 season to serve in World War I, Lambert coached baseball and basketball at Purdue. The Boilermakers went 374-156 under Lamber (1916-17, 1918-19 to 1945-46) producing 11 Big Ten titles and 16 All-Americans. One of his players, John Wooden, would walk into the Hall at the same time as Lambert.

ED MACULEY

A third-team All-American in 1947, two-time first-team All-American in 1948 and 1949, and AP Player of the Year in 1949 with the Billikens, Maculey also brought an NIT title to Saint Louis. The fifth pick in the 1949 BAA Draft, Maculey stayed in St. Louis playing for the Bombers. The following year he signed with the Boston Celtics. Maculey got his first of seven NBA All-Star selections with the Celtics. Traded in 1956 to the Hawks, Maculey would again help bring a championship to the city of St. Louis winning an NBA title in 1958. Macauley was enshrined at age 32.



EDWARD C. MACAULEY
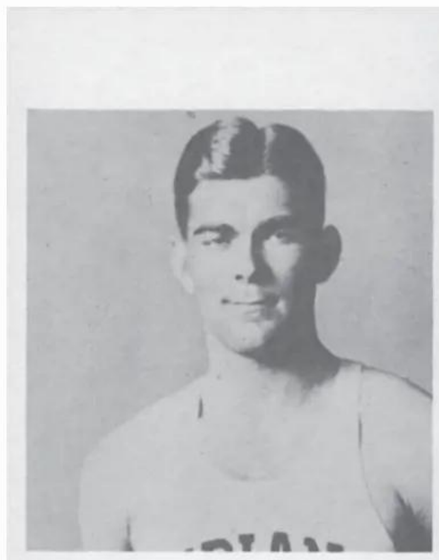
ELECTED 1960-COLLEGE PLAYER

Graduated from St. Louis, Mo. (University) H.S. 1945 and St. Louis U. 1949. After 6.8 points average in 81 high school games, "Easy Ed" became one of Billikens' great players. During years 1946-49, was named to every All-American team selected. Was All-Conference 4 years, was MVP in NIT Tournament in 1948, and AP Player-of-the-Year 1949. Led nation with .524 shooting in 1947. Was All-NBA 1950 through 1954, played in 8 NBA All Star Games. Scored over 11,000 points in 9 NBA seasons.

EMMETT "BRANCH" MCCRACKEN

A legend at the University of Indiana as a player (1928-30), McCracken was named Big Ten conference Most Valuable Player in 1928 and an All-American in 1930. Branch's career as a coach began during the 1930-31 season with Ball State (93-41). Taking the place of his old coach, Everrett Dean, at Indiana for the 1938-39 season, by Year 2, McCracken won an NCAA championship for IU. McCracken would cut the nets again at the end of the 1952-53 season. Hanging up the whistle in 1965, McCracken retired with a 364-174 record as IU's head coach.



BRANCH McCRACKEN
ELECTED 1960-COLLEGE PLAYER

Graduated from Monrovia, Ind. H.S. 1926 and Indiana U. 1930. Led his H.S. team to Tri-State titles 1925 and 1926, was MVP both years. Led college team in scoring 3 years, was All Big Ten 3 years. Was Conference MVP 1928. Set Big Ten scoring record in senior year when he was named on every All-American team elected. In playing career scored 32% of all points scored by his team and twice won Indiana Balfour Award. Became great coach at Indiana to win 4 Conference titles and 2 NCAA Championships in 1940 and 1953.

CHARLES MURPHY

Further helping place Indiana on the map as a top state to produce basketball excellence – Charles "Stretch" Murphy. After winning an Indiana high school state championship while at Marion in 1926, Murphy went on to play at Purdue under Ward Lambert. At 6-6, Murphy was one of the game's early "big men" dominating down low. From 1927-28 until his eligibility was up in 1930, Murphy racked up three first-team All-American honors. After college, Murphy played for the Chicago Bruins and Indianapolis Kautskys.

EVERETT S. DEAN
ELECTED 1966-COACH

Graduated from Salem, Inc., H.S., 1917, and Indiana 1921 (A.B.) and 1936 (M.A.). Four-year star in H.S., three-year regular at Indiana U. In 1921 Everett was All-Conference Center, All-American, and won the Western Conference Medal for Proficiency in Scholarship and Athletics. After winning 48 of 52 games at Carleton College, 1921-24, he returned to Indiana to coach 14 years to win 163 games and tie for Big Ten Titles in 1926-28-36. In 1938 he joined Stanford to lead them to an NCAA crown in 1942. In 1955 completed 34 years of coaching with the universal recognition of being one of finest gentlemen in the game. He wrote two important books, was a member of the All-American Selection Committee, 1949, and a member of the National Sports Committee, 1948.

H.V. PORTER

Among the many ways Porter influenced the game to earn induction, most are still in wide use to this day: a molded basketball, first leather, at 29.5 inches, the fan shaped backboard, and the term "Midnight Madness." Another standout in shaping the game, in 1936 Porter penned the first high school rulebook used nationally.
